Oracle Data for Dynamic Creative Optimization – 1M Input Records

This Service will use Your selected Category ID(s) to provide to You real-time text-based data identifying whether a user or visitor to a webpage (where the advertiser has purchased the placement of an advertisement) is a member of the associated Oracle pre-built Segment(s) available in the BlueKai Marketplace for the purpose of optimizing advertising creatives. For example, advertisers may choose to display different pictures and text to different identified users based on their historical buying patterns or interests. This optimization takes place after the Targeted User has been selected for Targeting and the Impression has been purchased. Your Content (which may include Personal Data) is used to deliver this Service.

Description of Services: Users of this Service may select one or more Category IDs from an Oracle pre-defined list of eligible Categories (such list is available upon Your request). If a visitor or user loads a webpage (where the advertiser has purchased the placement of an advertisement) and such visitor or user is a Targeted User, then the JavaScript object notation (JSON) Tag sends a signal (each, an Input Record) that will identify the Targeted User’s Cookie ID. Based on the identified Cookie ID, the Service will determine if the Targeted User is a member of Oracle pre-built Segments associated with Your selected Category IDs. Once determined, Oracle will send text-based data to You, identifying whether such Targeted User is a member of the Oracle pre-built Segments associated with Your selected Category IDs. Users of this Service may use the following features:

- The text-based data sent by Oracle may be sent to an Oracle pre-approved dynamic creative optimization partner (acting on Your behalf) that determines which advertising creative to display to the Targeted User based on in the Oracle provided text-based data. A list of such Oracle pre-approved dynamic creative optimization partners is available upon Your request.
- You may modify Your selection of Category IDs at any time during the Services Period of Your order.

Usage Limit(s):

- Each Input Record which will count against the monthly limit of Input Records.
- Oracle provided text-based data may only be sent to either You or one (1) Oracle pre-approved dynamic creative optimization partner.
- The Category IDs that may be selected by You is limited to a list of Oracle pre-defined Categories.
- This Service is only intended for creative selection for an already-purchased Targeting service.
- This Service is not intended to decide whether to Target a user or visitor to a webpage.
- You may use Oracle Data for up to six (6) months after the date the Oracle Data is made available to You.
- Oracle Data may only be transmitted through a pre-approved Integration to an ad server Destination.
- This Service is only available for use in the U.S. and Your Content can only contain Personal Data from individuals located in the U.S.

Pre-Requisite(s):

- Advertiser needs to place the JSON Tag in the creative advertisements correctly pursuant to Your order for Oracle to be able to receive a Cookie ID to identify the Category ID. Failure to correctly place the Tag will result in a blank or inaccurate text based data.
- Prior to Your use of this Service, You may be required to sign additional terms with Oracle that addresses the use of Curated Data of individuals located in different legal jurisdictions and associated privacy requirements.
